DOLAN PARDON DENIED

DOLAN PARDON DENIED; ASK HURLEY PROBE

Edmund L. Dolan, J. Walter Quinn and Robert E. Dinsmore were refused pardons this afternoon by the governor's council, it was learned by the Boston Evening American.

The Dolan and Quinn petitions for pardon submitted to the council by Governor Hurley were rejected by a vote of 5 to 3.

In the case of Dinsmore, although he had withdrawn his petition in a surprise move a few hours earlier, the vote was a tie—4 to 4—the council ruling that a vote should be taken anyway.

HOW THEY VOTED

Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly and Councilors Daniel H. Coakley and O'Connor voted in favor of pardons for Dolan and Quinn, now serving sentences of two and a half years for contempt of court.

Voting in opposition were Councilors Collins, Grossman, Tuckerman, Lindsay and Brooks.

When the vote on the Dinsmore application for pardon was taken, however, Collins switched to the "Yes" side, making the vote a tie.

Attorney John J. Donovan, who acted for Dinsmore in withdrawing the latter's petition, said in presenting the withdrawal:

"Dinsmore doesn't want any suspicion of misconduct or political influence being brought to bear in his behalf to obtain a pardon for him. When he goes out he wants to go out right."

DEMAND PROBE OF HURLEY

Just before the governor and council went into session, with the state still seething over the mystery pardon, under parole conditions, granted Raymond Patriarca, Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware filed an order in the House demanding legislative investigation of all acts of the governor, lieutenant governor and the council since the September primaries.

Representative Sawyer accompanied his order for an investigation with a biting arraignment of the executive branch of the state government, characterizing the pardon granted Patriarca as "the boldest of a long chain of bold and defiant acts."

GIVEN WIDE POWERS

Under Sawyer's order the legislative investigation committee would be composed of four senators and eight representatives, divided equally among the two major parties.

The committee would have full power to summons and question witnesses, state department heads and employes and would have access to books and records of all state departments.

Its report would be made to the Legislature before prorogation in 1939.

"DISGRACE TO STATE"

In filing his order, Representative Sawyer said:

"It is a well known fact among those of us who are closely associated with political affairs

Storm Rocking State

Highlights in today's statewide battle over pardons by Governor Hurley and his council:

1—Executive council denied pardons for Edmund L. Dolan, J. Walter Quinn and Robert Dinsmore.

2—State Representative Roland D. Sawyer files an order calling for investigation by a legislative committee of all acts by the governor, lieutenant-governor and the council since the September primaries.

3—In an editorial, the Providence Journal says the pardon granted Raymond Patriarca, Rhode Island's "Public Enemy No. 1," "writes a miserable end to the career of Charles F. Hurley as governor of Massachusetts."

4—Brookline jeweler, C. H. Wallbank, who purportedly wrote a letter yesterday commending the Patriarca pardon, declares today Patriarca should have remained in prison.

5—District Attorney Dewing of Norfolk County calls on Attorney General Dever to "investigate further."

Hopkins Named To Roper Job

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 — President Roosevelt today named Harry L. Hopkins to his cabinet as Secretary of Commerce, succeeding Daniel C. Roper, whose resignation became effective today.

Tomorrow Hopkins will be sworn into office in the President's study before a small group of officials and members of the Roosevelt family gathered here for the Christmas holidays.

Hopkins still must be confirmed by the Senate.

That there were rumblings of opposition to his confirmation even before his appointment was announced.

$5000 PAY RAISE

To succeed Hopkins as WPA administrator, the President will "designate" Col. F. C. Harrington, a regular army officer, who has been serving as chief engineer for the Works Progress administration.

Secretary Early said he did not believe Senate confirmation would be required for Harrington, and he drew distinction between his "designation" and a formal appointment.

Hopkins has been drawing $10,000 a year as WPA administrator. As commerce secretary he will get a $5000 pay raise as a Christmas present.

White House officials said Harrington would be unable to accept the difference between his army pay and the $10,000 salary of the WPA administrator unless he resigned from the army.

WILLIAMS SHIFTED

Aubrey Williams, who has been assistant WPA administrator, and whose speeches and policies have been subjected to severe criticism in Congress, will be transferred to the National Youth Administration as director.

These shifts will complete a major shakeup in New Deal personnel.

The President had hoped to separate the NYA entirely from the WPA, but this was found to be impossible, because the NYA act specifically designated that the Youth Organization is "within" the WPA.

HARRY L. HOPKINS

Because of this Williams will work along with Harrington in the WPA, although his duties will lie almost entirely in administration of the Youth Organization.

WPA Reclassification Postponed to Jan. 31

The "deadline" for reclassification of WPA workers here was extended, today to Jan. 31, in orders received from Washington by Col. John McDonough, regional director.

An estimated 4000 relief recipients either over 65, or working mothers, now on WPA payrolls, face loss of WPA jobs as a result of the re-classification order, which requires that persons eligible to other forms of relief be dropped.

Among those who are to be dropped are persons receiving or eligible to receive social security payments, mothers' pensions, and similar other forms of relief. There is, at present, a total of some 127,000 persons on the WPA payrolls in Massachusetts.

'What Do You Know?' Answer These Questions

WHY cannot the New Deal mind its own New Deal business?

Why must it meddle in every situation that arises in Europe, Asia, Africa, South America and Australia?

Why must it take every opportunity to make an enemy of Japan for instance even if it does not like Japan?

Why must it give unnecessary and USELESS offense to that nation even if Americans very properly do not approve of Japan's military processes in China?

Why must the New Deal create conditions which may ultimately lead us into war on one side or the other of ANY conflict which does not directly concern us?

Why must we Americans — not merely BE DRAGGED into war, but drag ourselves into every conflict EVERYWHERE no matter how far from our shores and how far from our interests?

WHY must we Americans continually burn our fingers to a crisp pulling the chestnuts of other nations out of the fire?

Why are our pacifists and Communists so peaceful when American interests are threatened and so very warlike where alien interests are concerned?

Why should our humanitarian and proletarian groups insist on financing the bloody Bolshevism of Stalin in China and on subsidizing the Russian rule of Asia?

Why must we arm ourselves formidably not for defense but for aggression—not for peace but for war?

WHY have we learned nothing from the last war that we must follow that evil experience with a worse one?

Why can we not possibly have an AMERICAN government for the AMERICAN people which will consider our own AMERICAN welfare?

Why does Secretary Morgenthau, as he hands out American money to China and English defiance to Japan, ask derisively "what nation is at war?"

Why does he not know that the answer unhappily soon may be:

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA IS!

Newport Wars On Princess

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 23—Newport's society world rose en masse today in protest against a plan to subdivide "The Moorings," palatial estate of the late Prince Miguel de Braganza, one-time pretender to the throne of Portugal.

Their wrath was directed against socialite Anita Stewart, the Prince's widow, who intends to break up the estate into seven building lots.

The protestants, led by Mrs. Paul Fitzsimmons, the former Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt, and including some of the best known names in American and Mayfair society, petitioned the mayor and board of aldermen to restrain the Prince's widow.

They were told, however, that the mayor and aldermen had no jurisdiction, and the matter was referred to the Newport board of review and the city planning board.

Besides Mrs. Fitzsimmons, who is the mother of the Governor-elect of Rhode Island, the complainants were Mrs. Katherine F. Spencer, aunt of John Jacob Astor, John Nicholas Brown, wealthiest young man in America, and his mother, Mrs. Nicholas Brown.

Mrs. J. N. Brown

Also Mrs. Diana Ryan, Mrs. Marion Eppley, Mrs. Francis L. V. Hoppin, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Parish, the latter, godmother of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons

The Braganza home was destroyed by fire last Sept. 24, and the Princess wants to replace it with a smaller house. The estate is valued at $75,000.

Broom Target Now Divorced

His wife hit him so hard with a bureau drawer that he looked as though he had been in an automobile accident, James Thomas Williams, steamship company official, told Judge John Mahoney in Suffolk probate court today.

The next day, he said, she beat him with a broom and ripped his shirt off his back, and a couple of days later, he testified, she threw a knife at him.

Judge Mahoney granted him a divorce.

A divorce likewise was granted to Mrs. Winifred Phillips, mother of 8 children, the oldest of whom is 10, and the youngest one-year-old twins. Her husband beat her, she testified, and came home drunk. She got custody of the children. She lives on Walnut st., Dorchester.

Mrs. Sidney A. Potter, Beacon street, Back Bay, also received a Christmas divorce. Her husband, a life-guard, left her four years ago, she told the court. While they were living together, she testified, he beat her when she didn't give him money. She lost 30 pounds during her married life, she said.

Andrew Callahan of Springfield was granted a divorce from Mrs. Florence Callahan, and won custody also of their three children. He testified he found his wife in another man's apartment in Commonwealth avenue, Brighton.

Divorces also were granted to Mrs. Estelle Rodriques, Tremont street, South End, who told Judge Mahoney she was married only last January 5, and to Mrs. Dorothy Albert, Burbank street, Back Bay, who testified her husband is an Army Base mechanic.

TAKE 20 OFF SINKING VESSEL

Twenty persons, including two women, were rescued from the disabled Norwegian freighter Smaragd in the gale-swept Atlantic 600 miles southeast of New York today by the American freighter Schodack.

Wireless reports to Radio Marine Corporation at Chatham, Mass., said the rescue was completed at 10:48 a. m., E. S. T., following a night of anxiety during which the Schodack stood by waiting for a lull in the weather.

A message from Captain Clifton Smith of the Schodack said:

"All hands, including skipper of Smaragd, safely taken from disabled vessel."

FLASHES SHIP BREAKING

The Smaragd, out of Norfolk for Fort William, Scotland, laden with oil in cases, sprang a leak and called for help. The Schodack, carrying general cargo between North Atlantic ports and France, immediately went to her aid.

After standing by during the night, Captain Smith reported at 6:33 a. m.: "Now preparing to get to S. S. Smaragd with boat. Smaragd still afloat as daylight is breaking. Smaragd has two women aboard."

The next news received was at 9:50 a. m., when Skipper Smith reported that seven persons had been safely transferred from the Smaragd to the Schodack and that preparations were under way for removal of the others.

REPORTS BAD LEAK

The Smaragd was leaking badly forward and listing, he said. Northwest gales were blowing, making rescue attempts difficult.

The Smaragd, a vessel of 1181 gross tons, was built in 1911. She is 225 feet long and once was named the Elizabeth Cuneo.

Her home port is Haugesund, Norway, and her owner A. S. Tryg: The Schodack has a crew of 40.

Girl Slugged, Youths Get Empty Bag

Two youths held up, and one of them struck, a girl returning from a bank in the heart of downtown Boston today and got a moneybag containing no money, but two bankbooks.

The robbery occurred in the lobby of a building at Washington and Essex street, with scores of Christmas shoppers passing nearby.

Miss Margaret Haverty, 23, Lakeview avenue, Cambridge, employed by the Community Opticians, with offices in the building, was held up. She had just deposited $174.25 in the Essex street branch of the National Shawmut Bank and was returning to her office.

As she entered the lobby, the two men crowded her to the wall, and one demanded:

"Give me that bag!"

Startled, Miss Haverty gasped:

"What?"

With that, she told police, the youth struck her with his fist on the shoulder.

The youth snatched the bag from her hand, and, with his accomplice, ran, to be lost in the Christmas shopping crowd.

TROUBLE again hit at Mrs. Marion Hughes Pierce when a New York court ruled that hotel was entitled to recover $2809 in rent and other items from her. She countered with a claim for $2000, charging sub-leasing of her apartment and consequent damage to her furniture when she was out in Hollywood.

She Could Find Needle In Haystack

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23 (AP)—An excited young woman called the postoffice and asked for the return of a letter she had mailed to a charitable organization.

She explained she had meant to place a $1 bill in the letter as a Christmas contribution, but had thoughtlessly put in her entire month's salary.

Postal officials told her there had been approximately 3,000,000 pieces of mail collected in the previous 24 hours, but they went to work. They found the letter just as it was to be sent through a mail cancellation machine.

8 Flee Blaze In Charlestown

Eight persons fled to the street today when flames swept a three-story lodging house on Main street, Charlestown.

Mrs. Ella Murphy, 55, a lodger, was slightly burned when she ran through flames in the vestibule of the house.

Firemen said the blaze started on the first floor when an overheated stove set fire to a carpet. Damage was estimated at $1000.

Petition Against Jakmauh Heard

Petition of Dr. Channing Frothingham, president of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and five other prominent physicians to prevent Secretary of State Cook from signing the commission of Dr. Paul J. Jakmauh, public health commissioner, was taken under advisement today by State Supreme Court Justice Charles H. Donahue.

In their petition the doctors contended that Dr. Jakmauh, whose appointment was confirmed two weeks ago, is not qualified for the position as required by statute.

F. D. Pens Huge Defense Plans

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1938)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23—President Roosevelt today formulated the final draft of a national defense message unparalleled since World War days—a call upon Congress for upwards of $2,000,000,000 to modernize the Army and Air Corps—as diplomatic relations with Nazi Germany came perilously close to the breaking point.

In the rearmament message he will deliver to the new Congress 11 days hence, the Chief Executive is expected to call attention to the humiliation suffered by Great Britain and France at Munich under the threat of overwhelming force, and to warn that the United States must immediately bolster its relatively weak defenses—else face the possibility of a similar debacle.

13,000 WAR PLANES

The defense program, according to well-informed quarters, will embrace:

1—An air force of 13,000 fighting planes; 10,000 for the

2—Re-equipment of the Army, without undue expansion of its present standing force, with modern rifles, field artillery, anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns, tanks and complete mechanization equal to those possessed by the military dictatorships.

3—Basic preparation of the nation's industry for an instantaneous swing over from peacetime to wartime pursuits should the nation be attacked.

Army and 5000 for the Navy—a force equal to that of Germany and Italy or Germany and Japan combined.

4—Training of a huge civilian reserve of air pilots and aviation mechanics.

FOR 8 BATTLESHIPS

5—Continuation of the naval expansion program laid down by the last Congress—with construction of two 45,000-ton battleships, added to the six 35,000-ton capital ships now under way, leading the list of new construction.

Only by having a navy, air corps and army sufficiently strong and modernly equipped to discourage attack, the President is represented as having become convinced since the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia and Japan's unhalted ravishment of China, can the United States be assured of preventing an ultimate onslaught on the Western Hemisphere—even an attack on the continental United States.

The President is reported to have expressed the belief that the real hope for this country remaining at peace with the world is through strong defenses, and that—pointing to the fate of Czechoslovakia and China—by remaining weak, it invites attack.

Relations with Germany were strained further today by the stinging rebuke administered Berlin yesterday.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles provided something new in diplomatic intercourse when Hans Thomsen, German charge d'affaires, sought to present a formal protest over Secretary of the Interior Ickes' criticisms of Nazi racial and religious persecutions, and Welles would not accept the protest.

Hitler Holds Parley Over U. S. Relations

BERLIN, Dec. 23 (INS)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler took a personal hand today in the strained diplomatic relations between Germany and the United States.

Although scheduled to depart for Nuremberg and Munich to celebrate Christmas Eve with storm troopers, the Fuehrer remained closeted with his advisers until a late hour, discussing refusal of the United States government to accept his protest against Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes' "anti-dictator" speech.

Diplomatic observers meanwhile expressed belief that Germany, by protesting the speech in which Ickes criticized Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Henry Ford for accepting medals from Hitler, actually hoped to maneuver the outspoken official out of President Roosevelt's cabinet entirely.

A public apology from Washington was anticipated, to be followed by a retraction and creation of a situation that would leave Ickes no alternative but to resign.

It was conceded the reported German plan had cracked up entirely, due to the adamant refusal of Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles even to listen to the Reich's protest, much less accept it or to apologize.

Jewish Honor to F. D. Rouses Nazis' Ire

BERLIN, Dec. 23 (INS)—Announcement that President Roosevelt has been awarded the 1938 American Hebrew medal was the signal for a new anti-Jewish blast in the German press today.

Under the front-page headline "Jewish Demonstration in the United States," the newspaper Nachtausgabe said:

"Comment on the 'honors' bestowed upon President Roosevelt by Jewry under leadership of the best-known war agitators is superfluous.

"The question remains whether Mr. Roosevelt feels he was actually honored and how the American public, which must not be identified with Jewish machinations, accepts this latest demonstration of Jewry.

"Because in the final analysis, Americans suffer greatly under conditions created by Jewish gangsters which are continuously damaging American prestige."

LONDON, Dec. 23 (INS)—Support for the United States in its diplomatic conflict with Germany was voiced by the London Evening Standard today.

"The main cause of the outcry," the paper said, "is undoubtedly the indignation, caused by the pogrom, in a nation which abhors persecution and is deeply stirred."

Police Probe Shooting of 2

WORCESTER, Dec. 23—Worcester and Marlboro police were cooperating today in an investigation following the shooting of two men.

One, Ameden Vitlatico, of East Central street, Worcester, was reported shot by Marlboro Policeman William Fitzgerald as he allegedly hastened from the direction of a hen-house on Northboro road, in Marlboro, which had just been robbed.

Later, Dr. Joseph Scola, Worcester police surgeon, received a telephone call at his home, advising him that a man was shot at an address on Prospect street. Going there, police found Joseph Arduca, 37, shot in the cheek.

Arduca, police said, denied knowing anything about Vitlatico.

Vitlatico was taken to Marlboro Hospital. He was shot through the hip.

Triple Crash Fatal To Peabody Man

Cyril B. Meagher, 31, of State street, Peabody, was dead today, killed in a triple collision on Chelsea street, East Boston, in which three other persons were slightly injured.

Meagher's machine collided head on with a truck operated by Eugenie Ricco, 25, of Maverick street, East Boston.

TVA JOB FOR REP. POPE?

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Representative Rankin (D.) of Mississippi predicted today that Senator Pope (D.) of Idaho would be appointed a director of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Pope was defeated for renomination and retires from the Senate in January.

Zero Hour Near; Basket Fund NEEDS Your Help

Comes the zero hour! There's lots of wonder! . . . will the Basket Fund go over and handle all the worthy cases of hungry and poverty stricken people? A question for more fortunate folks who are wrapping bundles and preparing for happiness day after tomorrow!

That's it . . . Day after tomorrow, the greatest day of all the year! But will it be exactly so for those in dire need, with little or no hope for a merry Christmas? This is indeed the zero hour!

The Basket Fund Editor at the Boston Evening American is waiting with scores of names in scores of sections, totaling a few hundred that not enough money means must be passed by when loaded trucks start tomorrow on errands of mercy to the homes of the poor.

A number of big hearted good fellows brought the fund up a peg with the mail yesterday and in the Basket Fund office.

They came in, these contributors, saying they wanted to see every family possible taken care of with food.

More such zero hour donations are needed!

FINE FRIENDS

It's hard to imagine how many must be left without a bountiful basket unless YOU and YOU and YOU who have not responded as yet can find a dime or a dollar to send along.

Your names need not to be published, if that's the way you prefer it. Look at the names that have been published in the list of contributions today. Any way at all, but DO lend a hand. It's a case of helping the helpless . . . a good turn this Christmas of 1938. One you will never forget.

Hungry little Juniors and Betsys are not easy to think about as the eve of Christmas approaches . . . and how fast it approaches! Soon it will be too late to give!

Among those who have jumped into the breach since yesterday we find the name of the Regis College Guild group of Weston.

A very welcome contribution, too! . . . Then there's the gladly-received aid that came from Charles J. O'Malley, representing the O'Malley Associates, with a letter, in which Mr. O'Malley said:

"The marvelous work you are performing deserves the genuine support of everybody," and the Basket Fund Editor says thanks! Then he turns to think and think hard.

It's going to be a hard thing to turn away, knowing that not enough is in the fund to take care of every name in hand! But then—what to be done about it? The Basket Fund Editor knows, if only he can impress it upon YOU and YOU and YOU before today and tonight passes on.

ZERO HOUR

He knows that many hundreds mean well and want to help. They may have forgotten, not had time or perhaps have not seriously considered how grave and pitiful a great many family circumstances are right now . . . The zero hour indeed!

Baskets can be secured and delivered if YOU and YOU and YOU will make a small donation no matter how little! How about it, now? Won't your holiday be all the merrier if you do? Then get in touch with the Basket Fund Editor some time today.

A number of big hearted good fellows brought the fund up a peg with the mail yesterday and in the Basket Fund office.

They came in, these contributors, saying they wanted to see every family possible taken care of with food.

More such zero hour donations are needed!

FINE FRIENDS

It's hard to imagine how many must be left without a bountiful basket unless YOU and YOU and YOU who have not responded as yet can find a dime or a dollar to send along.

Your names need not to be published, if that's the way you prefer it. Look at the names that have been published in the list of contributions today. Any way at all, but DO lend a hand. It's a case of helping the helpless . . . a good turn this Christmas of 1938. One you will never forget.

Hungry little Juniors and Betsys are not easy to think about as the eve of Christmas approaches . . . and how fast it approaches! Soon it will be too late to give!

Among those who have jumped into the breach since yesterday we find the name of the Regis College Guild group of Weston.

A very welcome contribution, too! . . . Then there's the gladly-received aid that came from Charles J. O'Malley, representing the O'Malley Associates, with a letter, in which Mr. O'Malley said:

"The marvelous work you are performing deserves the genuine support of everybody," and the Basket Fund Editor says thanks! Then he turns to think and think hard.

It's going to be a hard thing to turn away, knowing that not enough is in the fund to take care of every name in hand! But then—what to be done about it? The Basket Fund Editor knows, if only he can impress it upon YOU and YOU and YOU before today and tonight passes on.

ZERO HOUR

He knows that many hundreds mean well and want to help. They may have forgotten, not had time or perhaps have not seriously considered how grave and pitiful a great many family circumstances are right now . . . The zero hour indeed!

Baskets can be secured and delivered if YOU and YOU and YOU will make a small donation no matter how little! How about it, now? Won't your holiday be all the merrier if you do? Then get in touch with the Basket Fund Editor some time today.

2 DEAD IN AIR CRASH

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 23 (INS)—Two army fliers, Lieutenant Gale Ellis of Beaver Falls, Pa., and Private Charles A. Downer of Tarentum, Pa., were killed when their pursuit plane crashed on the outskirts of Norfolk.

'Santa Claus' Kills Man Stealing Christmas Tree

ELYRA, O., Dec. 23 (AP)—Enraged because they were taking a Christmas tree from his farm, William Case, 81-year-old farmer, shot and killed William Rousseau, 37, and seriously wounded Rousseau's wife, Minnie, 29, today.

Case is being held in jail without charge. Mrs. Rouseau is in a critical condition with a shotgun wound in her side.

Gray-whiskered and known as "Santa Claus," Case said he had resolved to "protect" this year the trees he planted many years ago.

"About seven trees were stolen last year," he told Sheriff Carl Finegan. "They were starting to steal again this year. Last night I heard a car come to a stop, so a dressed, got my gun and stepped into the orchard. I saw somebody go out to the grove and start back to the car with a tree.

"I fired without saying a word.

"I fired once and then shot a second time. As I was reloading the gun I heard the auto horn blow. I fired another shot at the headlights."

One of Case's granddaughters told more about his Christmas tree difficulties.

"Every year grandpa's had trouble with people taking Christmas trees. They'd drive trucks in and take trees out by the truck load. This morning he happened to catch somebody."

Malloy Honored By Camera Men

John A. Malloy, editor-in-chief of Hearst newspapers in Boston, was today unanimously elected honorary president of the Press Photographers Association of Boston.

This is the first instance in the history of the association that an editorial executive has been so honored, William Jones, president of the association, said.

President Jones wrote to Mr. Malloy:

"This is in cognizance of your splendid cooperation and for the many favors you have extended in the past."

"A LITTLE CHILD shall lead them." Joan McLaughlin, 3, of Jamaica Plain holds a box while Donald Robinson, Jr., 2, of Watertown donates his mite to the Boston Evening American Xmas Basket Fund. There's still time for grown-ups to follow this example and help a worthy cause.

Latin Nations Move to Break Lima Impasse

LIMA, Dec. 23 (AP)—The presidents of Argentina and Uruguay and the foreign minister of Brazil were said to have acted today to show the Pan-American conference a way out of its impasse on the vital issue of western hemisphere solidarity and defense.

Reliable Brazilian informants asserted the conference had received copies of a solidarity declaration agreed upon among President Roberto Ortiz at Buenos Aires, President Alfredo Baldomir at Montevideo and Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha at Rio de Janeiro.

The Brazilians said nearly all delegations had approved this formula and that it was likely to be substituted for an Argentine declaration on which agreement was announced by the conference chairman, Dr. Carlos Concha of Peru, last night—prematurely, as it later developed.

Delegates hoped the Argentine-Brazilian-Uruguayan intervention might lead the Lima meeting out of confusion in which it had groped since yesterday as a result of rival declarations on solidarity — most important issue before the conference.

Secretary of State Hull, head of the United States delegation, went to the conference hall early for consultation with Concha on the muddle.

Driver Saves Blazing Truck

NEWINGTON, N. H., Dec. 23 (AP)—For presence of mind in an emergency, Jack Williams, 60, of Kittery, Me., rates a perfect score.

He was driving an oil truck on the Portsmouth-Dover road today. The steering gear snapped, and the vehicle left the highway, overturned in a field and caught fire.

A spectator telephoned the fire department. When it arrived Williams was mopping his brow despite freezing temperature.

He had leaped from the truck cab unharmed, and by fast work had extinguished the blaze.

McKenney Wins Council OK, Marcella Loses

Appointment of Joseph McKenney, former Boston College football star and coach, as associate Metropolitan District commissioner was confirmed unanimously today by Governor Hurley's executive council.

By a four to four vote, however, the council failtd to confirm the appointment of out-going M. D. C. Commissioner Felix A. Marcella as a member of the state housing board.

Seen as significant by State House obstrvers was the fact that Republican Councillors Grossman and Lindsay, heretefore aligned with the governor's Democratic bloc, broke away to vote with Republican stalwarts Tuckerman and Brooks, for rejection of the Marcella appointment.

This left Marcella, a former representative from the North End, out in the political cold.

McKenney succeeds him on the Metropolitan District Commission.

The vote on the Marcella appointment was Kelly, O'Connor, Connelly and Collins, "Yes"; and Lindsay, Tuckerman, Brooks and Grossman, "No".

Reappointments of Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long and Budget Commissioner Carl A. Raymond were confirmed.

Also confirmed was appointment of Judge William A. O'Hearn as special justice of North Adams district court.

Police Seize 3 To Balk Holdup

What police said was an intended payroll robbery at the Bond Bread company plant, in Albany street, was foiled today when heavily armed officers, rushing out of hiding, captured three suspects.

Payroll cash, amounting to several thousand dollars, had just been delivered at the plant by an armored car.

No guns were found on the three men who were seized and held for questioning.

However, Capt. Thomas Duggan of the Dudley street station, who sprung the trap, said he thought a get-away auto, which escaped capture, might have carried the bandit arsenal.

STUBBORN N. H. FIRE

MEREDITH, N. H., Dec. 23 (AP)—Firemen battled in sub-freezing temperatures for six hours early today to extinguish a blaze in the Odd Fellows three-story block in Main street.

Dolan Loses; Ask Hurley Probe

that lame-duck officials, smarting under defeat and desperate at losing office, often do things that under other conditions they would never do.

"Things have been going on in the executive corner during the past three months that are a disgrace to the good name of the state of Massachusetts. Those responsible were some of them elected to positions of public trust by the Democratic party, some by the Republican party.

"The good name of the state has been disgraced, the money of the people squandered, public safety menaced and the people's faith in their government demoralized.

"I call upon all citizens in both parties to support the order I have filed, which demands an investigation of all acts of the executive branch of the government since the primaries were held in September.

"Let all citizens of Massachusetts assert themselves and show that no one can do the things that have been done in the office of the Governor and chamber of the council during this period without the people of the state registering a protest that will ring in the ears of the guilty for the rest of their lives.

"This pardon of Patriarca is the last and boldest of a long chain of bold and defiant acts and it seems to be the last straw that breaks the camel's back.

ASKS UNITED SUPPORT

"Let the people know that desperate politicians cannot put these deals over safely unless the decent politicians close their eyes.

"I shall ask, and do ask, every elected member of the Legislature, Democrat and Republican, to support this order and expose what has been going on."

R. I. Hits Hurley 'Yuletide Gift'

The "shameful" Patriarca pardon "writes a miserable end to the career of Charles F. Hurley as Governor of Massachusetts," the Providence Journal declared today in an editorial.

"Rhode Island is shocked," the editorial said, pointing out that only two executive pardons had been granted in that state in six years.

"Rhode Island does not cherish the Yuletide package which Governor Hurley of Massachusetts sent back to this state in the shape of Raymond Patriarca suddenly and shamefully pardoned after serving only $1 days of three concurrent sentences of three to five years in Charlestown prison.

SHOCK TO R. I.

"Hitherto, Patriarca made his greatest bid to fame by running well up in the Providence police list of public enemies. He can now boast of having figured in one of the most flagrant abuses of official pardoning power in this section of the country.

". . . Rhode Island is shocked by a show of clemency unjustified by Patriarca's previous criminal record. . . .

"Whatever reasons Governor Hurley and the approving council members see fit to give for their last-minute order before a new state administration assumes control will make poor reparation for the damage already done to the cause of conscientious police and prosecution work of the type that put Patriarca behind bars a few months ago.

FEW PARDONS THERE

"Yet far more than this has been damaged. Popular respect for law itself, for government and for government officials suffers. . . .

"This writes a miserable end to the career of Charles F. Hurley as Governor of Massachusetts. Let us hope it ends the criminal career of Patriarca.

". . . Only two pardons were granted here in the last six years. Governor Quinn and former Governor Green insisted on protecting society and rehabilitating deserving men by maintaining the highest type of administration of the parole laws."

Lest He Forget!

Governor Hurley, in his annual address to the Legislature last January, said:

The recent prevalence of crime is a challenge to our LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES.

This epidemic must not go unchecked. Apprehension of guilty persons must be swift and COMMENSURATE PENALTIES must be imposed.

Massachusetts accepts the challenge of the gangster and the criminal and places at the disposal of the Attorney General and the other law enforcement officers of the Commonwealth all its resources TO COMBAT THE MENACE OF CRIME.

Botanical Surprise For Socialites

By BETTY ALDEN

COMING . . . [illegible]

Mr. Ewing is a son of Victor Ewing, a prominent Chicago attorney . . .

A VERY MODERN CHRISTMAS vacation in store for Marjorie Sprague was arrived home from college yesterday . . . First of the line home from her Alma Mammy, Stephens College in Missouri . . . and after a joyous Christmas Day, she and a group of friends are going up to the White Mountains for skiing . . . After that Marjoie will be home for a few days before the college airline special wings her back to Missouri on January 10 . . . She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer Sprague of Commonwealth avenue, and made her debut last winter . . . She is an outstanding member of the undergraduates at college having been recently elected to a position on the campus social board.

EVEN BEFORE the last scraps of turkey have been nibbled, many socialite winter sports fans will pack their skis and other paraphernalia into beach wagons next week and head for the mountains . . . Latest to join the list of Christmas-New Year's vacationers are the Edward Cunninghams of Dedham who are taking a group of subdebutante friends of their daughter Edith's, on a winter sports house party . . .

Ann Millspaugh Honored at Luncheon

TURN AND TURN ABOUT is fair play . . . Last year when Jean Carpenter and Debbie Sprague were debutantes, Ann Millspaugh entertained for them . . . and now that it's Ann's turn to bask in the social spotlight, Jean and Debbie are doing their share to make her coming out year a memorable one . . .

Tomorrow [illegible] luncheon at the Hotel Statler where Jean [illegible] will be hostesses at a small luncheon for Ann . . . Ann, who just returned from [illegible] holidays is [illegible] and Mrs. Peter Millspaugh of Hampton . . . For the party Jean will wear a [illegible] frock of navy blue [illegible] and a [illegible] . . .

Social [illegible] are [illegible] with attractive debs is Martha Perkins and Hope Hussey, Dee Lee, Nancy Nichols, Lesley Cowan and Lolo Mayo . . . Incidentally, Martha Perkins was hostess in the Bellevue Room of the Hotel Somerset the other evening for a small [illegible] for Hope Hussey, Nancy M Neil, Polly Howard and Lesley Cowan . . .

HERE'S HOPING Santa's address book is right up to the minute this year, so the gifts he leaves presents to all the Bostonians who are not hanging their stockings at their usual family hearth . . . For instance, Hilldis Prince, and her mother, Mrs. Charles H. Prince, are not at their Dover home for the holidays . . . but in Gotham where Hilldis is pursuing her favorite interest . . . studying for the stage . . .

• • •

CHRISTMAS GREETING cards from the Guy Murchies bring a hint of balmy breezes and tropic moons, for they are basking at their winter home in Nassau . . .

Cousins in Social Spotlight

MARY LOUISE FRENCH PRISCILLA HARTMAN

JUDGING FROM the happy laughter and broad grins of the college debs seen around at holiday festivities, they are finding vacation much to their liking. Here are Mary Louise French of Winchester and her cousin, Priscilla Hartman of Milwaukee, for whom she gave a luncheon at the Ritz-Carlton this week. Miss French, a Vassar student, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward French, and her cousin is a Bryn Mawr girl.

Club, Sorority Will Hold Dance

Stag Club of Cambridge will join with the Phi Alpha Kappa Sorority of Belmont and the Bachelors' Club of Belmont, in sponsoring a Christmas formal in the Hotel Continental, on Tuesday, December 27.

James J. Cassy Jr., member of last year's class at Boston College is chairman of the Stag Club committee in charge of the arrangements.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

THE BYWORD OF THE TOUGHER SET along the Rialto last night was "Pardon me!" . . . The "boys" jostled one another laughingly and said it with a smile . . .

GEORGE HOLLAND

By the transposition of only two letters, the name Custer becomes an Italian word—a calpurnism when translated into English—which denotes that Philip Morrison may have had a sly sense of humor . . . The two letters to transpose are the first two, and they simply switch to become the last . . . The word as printed in Italian dictionaries . . .

"Reconstruction" by the Republicans, with many of the state departments being completely reorganized and renovated as to man power (in spite of Hurley appointments) is the bogey of leading Democrats today . . . Governor Saltonstall will insist upon the appointment of a state administrator of housing . . . The state is represented under the present set-up by a commission . . .

Pat Hurley has a new automobile, but the Fear Man is not to be outdone. It has been assigned to Pat again . . . It's [illegible] Lieutenant-Governor William P. Hickey's blast at the Governor's "one-man administration" . . . Loyal and good humored and in perfect health, as are even the South Boston mass "pop-off" was what they were . . .

Four tremendous silver trophies, delivered mysteriously Wednesday afternoon and consigned to the winning four-man team in the Northeastern Bridge League, are cluttering up Lou Walters' office in the Latin Quarter . . .

Or so says the Latin Quarter's press agent . . . If there is such a league, this column would like it or the p. a. for Minehost Walters to explain what form of bridge is won by a "four-man team" . . .

The Mayfair Casino restaurant now holds two pianos, which will please Lillian Evans Weeks, host of fans . . . Ranny is one of the best [illegible] but he has been swinging a baton to the [illegible] fingering of the keys . . .

For the information of contractors: All the awards for snow removal have been made by the city . . . And Mayor Tobin is praying for a dozen or so inches less snowfall this winter than last . . . As who ain't?

He Couldn't Get Away From THAT:

At the Casino Parisien last night, where another large [illegible] prospect, was [illegible] and stepped for the third night in succession [illegible] and a pretty young thing executed in [illegible] extremities . . .

"He loves me . . . I know he loves me . . . I told him so"

Once Over Lightly:

Willie ready to [illegible] the Lambeth Walk back to England? . . . [illegible] Ring about it, it proves that some of the [illegible] . . . Barbara McNeil, the Boston girl [illegible] . . . Ben Yost Never Knows as Barbara Bennett [illegible] . . . Zeppelin Lines . . .

The ban count who gave George Harris fifty dollars for his boys, and passed out five dollar bills to assorted employes of the Towne Club, is a "bookie" from Worcester . . .

Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy exchanged greetings with Joe Rines, the Boston maestro, who is playing at Harry Richman's "The Road to Mandalay" in New York . . . The Richman Club is New York's newest and most lavish nightclub . . . It cost $200,000, according to rumor, and the place doesn't belie the estimate . . .

Boston's Greenwich Village designers, who suppose [illegible] "The Road to Mandalay" . . . But Kenyon wasn't present at the [illegible] mystery we may be able to [illegible] . . .

Chatter:

Howard Johnson, the Wollaston restaurant magnate, has returned from Florida to pass the holidays with his family . . . Going for four Howard Johnson restaurants were chosen in the vicinity of Miami . . .

1929 will be the 12th consecutive year for the bridge game (cards) which has been in progress one night a week at the Brighton dominion of Peter Rogers, the veteran city employee . . . Joe Bierman, the theater man and Umpire Jack Stafford have hoped Peter set what may be an endurance record . . .

Blackstone, the magician, has been booked for the Keith-Boston two weeks from today—which will make many of the youngsters happy . . .

Leave the way free for Governor-elect Saltonstall, the man in whom the people have reposed their confidence, to carry on after the New Year.

CHRISTMAS DAY is an occasion for home and family; stories in this week's news provide tragic proof.

A Farmland Trade School boy, desperately wanting to be with his widowed mother, tries to swim the treacherous waters about Thompson's Island and dies in the attempt.

A Dedham girl "runaway," experiencing the same feeling, runs away, sees her mother and returns, repentant.

In Waterbury, Vt., a woman, said by police to have brooded over a fear her three little daughters would find their Christmas stockings empty, is arrested for killing her youngest child.

On the OTHER SIDE of the holiday we are soon to celebrate [illegible] is anxious to know. Yet, in spite of the sorrow these stories inspire, it is important to try to put ourselves in the other fellow's place.

Surely and the grief unfortunately so abundant in the world makes it undeniably clear—most of us DON'T KNOW HOW LUCKY WE ARE!

The Human Side of the News

The True Story of Harding

By EDWIN C. HILL

[illegible] Features Staff Writer

THE [illegible] of Gaston B. Means [illegible] around criminal [illegible] the book he spun [illegible] the false story that President Harding did not die a natural death, but was put out of the way [illegible] about to expose [illegible] number of persons [illegible] high places and friends who had [illegible] betrayed once.

His election in 1920 led, indeed, to the betrayal of the people and [illegible] truth of Harding himself, [illegible] in the hands of as [illegible] conspiracy of rascals as [illegible] ever knew.

It was 18 years ago that I, too, [illegible] the Harding home in Marion, Ohio, to offer my congratulations to Mr. Harding.

In a sitting room in the rear, I found Mrs. Harding, sitting alone and gazing out into the darkness.

SHE MOTIONED me to a chair and I turned toward me the strangest possible expression on her face.

I wish [illegible] it in my heart," she said, "[illegible] wish that he had been beaten." She paused, then went on: "I [illegible] I won't him nominated. I will not want him in the White House. But they were too [illegible] me. He belonged to [illegible]."

I [illegible] many presently thinking [illegible] struggle it was that [illegible] President of [illegible] United States [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] So many [illegible] tragically. By the time [illegible] was [illegible] and at [illegible] in the future when I [illegible] the mood of that fine and intensely [illegible] ing woman.

She knew her man.

Some months after the President's untimely death in San Francisco, I happened to be in Columbus, on my way to Chicago. I again visited Mrs. Harding.

W[illegible] the tears coursing down her cheeks that I [illegible] who seldom wept told me of the last half year of the Hardings in the White House.

She told me of her fears and her presentiments of the [illegible] unwillingness of the President [illegible] but he had been [illegible] and he had gone [illegible] of the final months, when [illegible] came upon him like a storm [illegible] [illegible] poisoning [illegible] [illegible].

LATE PRESIDENT AND MRS. HARDING
She Did Not Want Him in White House.

[illegible] took place at night on the eighth floor of the Palace Hotel in San Francisco. The President had succumbed to a brief ailment but his energy dwindled, recovery seemed probable.

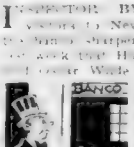
At about 9 p.m., I think it was, the late Richard V. Oulahan went up to the eighth floor and found General Sawyer almost racing to President Harding's suite.

After a while he reappeared, the [illegible] written on his face. Death had struck. It came while Mrs. [illegible] sat at the bedside holding her husband's hand. He said to her: 'I'm tired. I'm so tired.' He closed his eyes. And then, he ceased to breathe.

That is the true story of Mr. Harding's death as told to me [illegible] Mrs. Harding, and by one of [illegible] [illegible] present as [illegible] [illegible] men who ever lived [illegible] children.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

INSPECTOR BYRNES warns visitors to New York against [illegible] shyster. It was only [illegible] week that Hungry Joe swindled [illegible] Oscar Wade of many thousand dollars.



Oscar reaped a harvest of American dollars with his cards, sunflowers and kneebreeches. But he [illegible] an ace [illegible] to the [illegible] Hungry Joe.

THE BANCO MEN rent apartments on ground-floor. The lease expires when they fleece a victim. The most important man is the roper-in. The dupe is lured to the banco men's shop by the usual story of a valuable painting to be drawn in a lottery.

THERE ARE 43 spaces upon a banco layout. Forty-two are numbered and of these 13 contain stars but no prizes. One space is blank. The remaining 29 spaces represent prizes ranging from two to five thousand dollars. It can be played with dice or cards. A star number permits the victim to draw again provided he puts up a small amount of money. He wins at first and soon the game owes him several thousand dollars. This is [illegible] when he draws the conditional prize number 27. The conditions are that he must put $500 to save what he has already won and to guarantee another drawing. That's when he draws the blank and [illegible]

The Brighter Side

Yesterday's Editor Needed His Gun

By DAMON RUNYON

[illegible] 1939 by [illegible] Inc. [illegible] and

THOSE BIG OLD [illegible] communists and the metropolitan cultural writers are always talking about the freedom of the press as if some immediate threat lurked around the nearest corner and we guess they get [illegible] how free the press really is nowadays, especially in the large centers of population.

Of course we realize that the threat they profess to see is something predicted, but if they had had experience with real scare threats ago at the freedom of the press how we [illegible] they would not be alarmed by anything bigger.

We have worked on papers in little towns where threats against the freedom of the press sometimes took on a definite, sanguinary aspect. Somebody was always trying to kill or maim the editor by way of curtailing the freedom of the press. In those days that freedom depended almost entirely on how much intestinal fortitude the editor had.

It requires no great nerve to edit a paper in a large city as far as including the freedom of the press is concerned. We were just thinking the other day of what a time a citizen like those who used to come around the newspaper offices in the little towns to discuss with the editor a matter bearing upon the freedom of the press would have had looking for the editor of a big New York newspaper.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, when the citizen reached the portals of the New York editorial sanctum, he would be closely interviewed by the [illegible] sentinel as to the purpose of his visit. If the citizen said he wanted to see the editor, the sentinel would inquire what editor? The Executive Editor? The Managing Editor? The [illegible] Day or Night City Editor? The Sunday Editor? Sporting Editor, Dramatic Editor, Society Editor, or what?

If the citizen was not at once thoroughly confused and said he wanted specifically to see the man who was responsible for that certain piece in the paper yesterday, the sentinel would say the man had not come in yet, or wait a minute. Then he would take the citizen's name and disappear awhile and when he finally returned would probably report—allowing that the visitor's patience had not become exhausted and he had departed that it was the man's day off.

IN LITTLE TOWNS where we worked, everybody always knew where to find the editor.

A citizen desiring to dispute with the editor the freedom of the press in those days began reaching for his hip or taking off his coat as soon as they met.

We cannot remember now working for more than a couple of editors who would not battle you for the freedom of the press as they saw it. And that freedom, they felt, gave them the license to expose corruption, and to belt their enemies.

The point is those old time little town editors did not trouble about threats to the freedom of the press. They just assumed that freedom as an inalienable right and were willing to fight for it at the risk of their lives.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

AS YOU MAY know, I like to write Yours, America, and when I do, neither Young America nor Grandpa has been in the habit of [illegible] protests.

I receive stuff from young letters. The funniest and most [illegible] comes from Youth. You may not approve of that frankness, but at least you can bet on this: YOU'LL HEAR AN HONEST MOUTHFUL.

If ever youngsters had a chance to know Life As Is this past year furnished him. Here for example, if you have the courage to face it, is your chance to read one reaction to the human race of which you are a voting unit . . . comment as to whether or not the world has become a better place since that first Christmas morn. How's this from 19-year-old VIRGINIA SISKE of CHICAGO?

HAS THE WORLD GROWN BETTER? DEFINITELY -NO! This human race is still a pack of curses . . . ripping each other to bits . . . snuggle up, the weak and innocent . . . come not even in attempt, then cast selfish ends. GOD IS OUR GOD . . . NOT THE FALSE GOD OF FAITHLESS HIM!

The German clan [illegible] the Jews . . . the human element of China . . . the situation in war-torn Spain and at home on [illegible] parliament . . . and our own [illegible] . . . in the face of [illegible] . . . this God's truth I've said was even here.

Oh, Lord, Doing the words was better. I can feel Job cheering. And as for Virginia, any mere words are what can't. You, yourself, have your place and [illegible] what better [illegible] you'd [illegible] are the best possible proof that THE WORLD HAS GROWN BETTER SINCE THE CHRIST WAS BORN!

Two thousand years ago you would have been rated legally as a CHATTEL with no more rights than the family cow! Even 50 years ago in this glorious America, I mean, YOUR HUSBAND COULD HAVE WILLED AWAY YOUR UNBORN CHILD AND YOU WOULD HAVE HAD NO WORD IN THE MATTER!

NOT BETTER! The world was so cruel in Jesus' day that a father could kill his own child without punishment.

There is no more dramatic episode in history than the picture of the young Christ lifting a babe in His arms, whilst He thundered at His astounded disciples, "Whosoever shall offend one of these little ones . . . it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck and he were cast into the sea."

For the first time, in the million years of human evolution, a man dared defend a child! Today, even though little ones are neglected, abused and killed, even though America still battles to make a brute-proof child labor law, there are thousands of havens where little ones play and sleep under loving protection.

Love was born that day in Bethlehem, little girl, and it has not gone away. We are cruel at . . . we are stupid at . . . and selfish and greedy and weak. But the light that was in that day will never fade away.

For man did not make that light, and man cannot put it out. It is part of God's own flame AND GOD CAN NEVER DIE.

Martha Lee Tells How to Pop Corn

FROM MARTHA LEE'S FRIDAY BROADCAST OVER WMEX, 11:30

We heard the wind whistling down the chimney, a few nights ago, and looking out our window as it rounded the corner of the house, it occurred to us that a bowl of corn and a spell of popping would be a good way to spend the evening.

The long evenings before Christmas would be spent stringing bright strands of popcorn and cranberries for hanging on the Christmas tree.

Remember the fireside evenings we used to spend popping corn and eating it with butter and salt? Perhaps some of you have a fireplace in your home and can do that yet. If you can, by all means do it.

Would you like to know how to pop corn? Here's how we used to do it:

HOW TO POP CORN

IF CORN WON'T POP

If the corn has become old and dry, [illegible] two quart [illegible] and put [illegible] five tablespoonfuls of water. [illegible] pops freely with this addition. Screw on the cover and shake. Allow it to stand for two days.

TO PREVENT BURNING

Shake up the corn just as soon as it begins to pop. Every last few kernels are going to move from the bottom to the top and the corn will not be removed from the popper.

MAKE IT TENDER

Carson Loses Heart To Indian Maiden

WHAT HAS HAPPENED:

In the company of Kit Carson, Paul D'Ortez rides south to the town of Taos, New Mexico, across the desert and mountains. The men ought, because the Indians are on the warpath, to travel together to some.

Before they can be joined by Mendoza, another band of Indians, the Mexicans, all planning to drive out the Americans, attacked Los Angeles before they returned home.

After Taos, during "Kemo" scouted upper streets and the Indians Kit fought them and revenge. At length, Pilmoore, such a friend as Carson could Kit was to be.

In the course of his Kit rode often with a band of Arapaho who [illegible] and after he the Oregon trail. Singe and Bird Song [illegible] loved them in the region which is [illegible] Wyoming.

PLAY-BY-PLAY IN THE STOCK MARKET

The stock market moved ahead fractions to a point or so over a broad front today before meeting any selling. Trading quieted on a subsequent dip but picked up when rail shares came into upside prominence.

Business Slump Due, But Haney Calms Fears

By LEWIS HANEY
(Professor of Economics, New York University)

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.

When recent stock market fluctuations are studied it is hard to combat an inclination to disregard them on the ground they represent nothing more than the usual pre-holiday lack of interest. That may be the case but if past rules are good it never pays to disregard the market at any time.

Even though price movements are not gargulous, or informative as one would like the fact remains that some people somewhere are doing the things that are going to make a future trend. To us it looks as though they were working the constructive side.

The auctions have been shot down it is true, but surely they have been long overdue. And any disappointment is compensated for by the easy manner in which rails moved ahead. The latter are by far the more important group. Their response to mild buying is indicative not only of thin offerings but of growing long term confidence in their outlook.

Austen Lake:

Year's Most Noted and Notorious Sport Idols

NOW THE 1938 SPORT DRAMA fades into the limbo of triviality. The 1938 record of frivolity, fraud, gallantry and error has been written into the human record—a laugh, a thrill, a tear, a yawn.

AUSTEN LAKE

The heroes of 1938 may become the failures of tomorrow. The current clowns of the last year may turn into 1939 cavaliers. So herewith is entered the leading sensationalists of the sport calendar, not those who were always on the side of the angels, but those, in their respective times, who consumed the most sport page lineage.

DON BUDGE—The genial teen-age tennis champion of the U. S. A. and all the rest of the world who, after saying he could not afford to turn professional, accepted Bobby Riggs's Tennis Tours sordid shilling and bade adieu to the front entrances of the superlicious social centers. His sharpshooting with the snowshoe bat and frisky flannel ball has prompted Bill Tilden, the game's fling master and Boswell to rate Budge the best since himself.

FRANK BRIMSEK—The Bruins' goose-egg specialist who inherited Tiny Thompson's net tending job amid a tempest of popular protest and, despite the psychological load, became the sensation of the year. A shy, monosyllabic youth whose cat-like agility adds another layer to Art Ross's reputation as the best brain in the refrigerated dementia called hockey.

SAM SNEAD—The professional golf newcomer who earned the unprecedented amount of $20,000 (shy a few hundred) in prize money and becomes at once the envy and despair of the motley horde of pro golf troupers who make the rounds of the winter sun-centers and seldom win cigarette and laundry money.

DICK HARLOW—The Harvard football coach who spurned journalistic commiseration for having to coach cultured kids who were deemed illiterate in football matters, and after taking four straight lickings turned out a band of gridiron grizzlies which won their second straight Big Three championship, a term that survives from the ancient day when the bigness of the trio was unquestioned.

TONY GALENTO—The squat, alley-style heavyweight fighter whose elevation to the No. 1 challenger for Joe Louis' title indicates

'I'd Do It Again,' Says Mack, 76

Birthdays are coming too often and too fast to do an thing about it, he said.

If I had it all to do over again I wouldn't change a thing, he said. Looking back over the years I've had [illegible] in the game I'd also have had many [illegible]

To me retirement is as far away as the stars," Mack said. That only comes up in the minds of other people, never in mine. When I should go will be known to me first.

When my players come to me and tell me to do this or that or question my judgment I'll know it is time to quit. When I cannot think for myself I'll step out.

[illegible]

"In my opinion, the Yanks are the best ball club of all time. I didn't put them in that class until the last World Series. Before that the Baltimore Orioles of the nineties, the Chicago Cubs of 1906 to 1909 and the Athletics of 1910 11 were, to me, the three greatest clubs.

"I'll tell you something that I

Battle for Race Days Is Raging | No Haste Needed In Turf War

By JACK CONWAY

THE BATTLE FOR racing dates in Massachusetts has blown wide open with Suffolk Downs, Great Barrington and Westport seeking approval of their proposed 1939 meetings.

MR. BOSTON

[illegible] Downs has had its [illegible] [illegible] Mohawk [illegible] G. M[illegible] [illegible] Mayor [illegible] [illegible] Suffolk Downs.

[illegible] Massachusetts [illegible] Boston [illegible] [illegible] Barrington [illegible]

I do not know anything about the merits of Westport or Great Barrington as far as racing is concerned, but there certainly should not be any haste in railroading any licenses through the office of the racing commission. It is better for the state authorities to act carefully after proper investigation and deliberation than to later find they have made some mistake in their proceedings.

[illegible]

Westport Beyond 50-Mile Zone

[illegible] Westport [illegible] Great Barrington [illegible]

Dan Garrett, who is associated with Agawam Park, is in the Great Barrington picture. Dan is anxious to remain in racing in an active way and will press for consideration for Great Barrington.

There have been two previous race meetings at Great Barrington, but they have been conducted in conjunction with a fair. The proposed meeting for next year would be for 30 days.

Meanwhile Westport is asking for 60 days. It is apparent that the people behind Westport believe they are entitled to as much consideration as Suffolk Downs.

[illegible] Westport [illegible] Connors, who resigned as president of Suffolk Downs, [illegible] still interested in [illegible] Westport track.

Connors stepped out of Suffolk Downs with a profit on his stock. He purchased his stock from Allan Wilson for about $26 a share, and when he sold out to Suffolk Downs interests he got almost $40 a share.

Governor Hurley Remains Silent

GOVERNOR CHARLES F. HURLEY, who made the two new [illegible] to the racing commission, [illegible] Mohawk [illegible] Suffolk Downs [illegible] Westport [illegible] public hearings [illegible]

Suffolk Downs is pressing for action on its request for a hearing. Charles I. Adams, chairman of the board at Suffolk Downs, feels that he should not be delayed any longer.

If the racing commission follows its usual procedure, Suffolk Downs will be granted the first hearing on account of the fact its application has been on file for the longest period of time.

All meetings must be advertised for seven days before they [illegible] and may be attended by the public. This gives all who wish to do so an opportunity to air their views.

As the racing season does not open until the late spring, it would not appear necessary to rush through any of these matters within the next two weeks.

Governor Hurley should be the first to insist that there be no undue haste in the granting of racing licenses and dates.

Ski Scribblings

by "TAP" GOODENOUGH

"SEEING IS BELIEVING!" Just because there hasn't been any snow locally, a lot of people think that there isn't any skiing. But, "SKIING IS BELIEVING," and a late wire from the Cannon Mountain Tramway in Franconia Notch shows there is plenty of snow up there! At an elevation of 4000 feet we find two inches of new powder over 27 inches of settled powder and granular base. The skiing is good.

Fred Nachbaur telegraphs from Laconia, N. H., to say that section has three inches of powder, but no base. Skiing is poor.

In the Mount Mansfield area in Vermont, Smuggler's Notch has six inches of snow, increasing from 20 to 30 near the summit with a wind-blown powder surface. The skiing is good on the Toll road and on upper trails.

The "Snow Train" of the Boston and Maine Railroad will make its second trip of this season next Monday. The destination will be Lincoln, N. H., with stops at North Woodstock and Campton. Truck service will be available from the train at Lincoln to the Cannon Mountain Tramway and Franconia Notch.

"We have never before operated a 'Snow Train' on Christmas," said Traffic Manager McCarthy, "but several skiers have telephoned to ask for another trip to the Cannon Mountain Tramway. The majority of people, we find, are going to celebrate Christmas on Sunday, leaving Monday free for other activities."

THOUGHTS WHILE SHOPPING

If anyone has a last-minute gift to buy for a skier, you will find all sorts of skiing accessories, large or small, at Asa Osborn's on 8 High street. Try some GLACE, the new liquid wax . . . Everyone—and all skiers—want a white Christmas . . .

Many are giving skis and poles for presents.

We saw several pairs of hickorys pointing skyward in the midst of the shopping mob . . . Did you ever try to carry a pair through a crowd? . . . Or through a turnstile in the subway . . . Bathtub sleeping will be in order over New Year's. All the northern hotels and inns are already booked solid.

SKI PATROL GREAT

As stated in Wednesday's column the Cannon Mt. Ski Patrol did a grand job in keeping accidents down to a new low last Sunday. There were, however, a few speed demons or "WHIZ BUMS" in evidence. This skier, while climbing back up the Practice Trail, just missed being hit by two of them on a turn. We were sidestepping up close to the trees, when the two would-be racers came schussing down without yelling "Track!" These lads were not entirely in control, and they cut the corner too sharp. We hope they failed to hit anyone else on their dizzy descent.

Keep your eyes UP THE TRAIL for oncoming skiers.

Tramp the bad spots. Mark the worn or dangerous spot.

Don't leave clothing or other obstacles on the trail.

Don't spoil the snow surface by walking on it when soft.

DOWNHILL RUNNERS HAVE THE RIGHT OF WAY. Keep to the side of the trail when coming up.

When stopping, KEEP SKI TIPS POINTED OFF-TRAIL.

Remember the good skier is ALWAYS UNDER CONTROL.

25 MAKE GRADE

The New Hampshire State Planning and Development Commission sends us the following notes: Ford K. Sayre announces that 25 ski instructors, including the 16 who passed the tests at Cannon Mountain last Sunday, now hold certificates and badges awarded by the U. S. Eastern Amateur Ski Association. Of this total number who officially qualified, 18 are in New Hampshire and the other 10 in Vermont and New York.

The season's second examinations for ski instructors will be held in January, and the third in April . . . Oscar Cyr, director of the Newfound Region Ski School, has placed Joe Perkins of Salem, Mass., at the AMC Lodge on Mt. Cardigan in Alexandria to hold daily classes commencing Christmas week . . .

The Laconia high school ski team is to be coached by Earl Chandler, former star of the New Hampshire University ski team . . . The Granite State Outing Club of Rochester has been laboring speedily to complete its new ski trails at Hussey Mountain, six miles from the city . . . This writer wishes skiers and all "A MERRY CHRISTMAS!" and "SKI HEIL!"

Shadow Still Unknown Star

Masked Ace Floors Robert

The Shadow succeeded in remaining annonymous when he clouted out a two out of three fall win over Yvon Robert of Canada after losing the first fall to the former world's champion at the Garden.

Yvon appeared well on his way to victory after a rolling arm scissors had rendered the Shadow helpless and he scored the initial fall in 18:22½.

The Shadow came back with a series of headlocks to even matters in the second fall which he scored in 14:35.

Robert came out full of fight in the final frame and appeared to have all the better of the fisticuffs, for the lads had temporarily disregarded wrestling and were turning on two-handed barrages which had the crowd of 4000 fans wild.

The Shadow smashed a wicked right uppercut which he followed with an inside body life and slam for the deciding fall in 10:26.

GUS COMES BACK

Possibly the highlight of the show was the sensational comeback by Gus Sonnenberg who handed Wee Willie Davis, 290 pounds of Virginia wrestling flesh a few headlocks to weaken him for his dynamite flying tackle which he used three times to score an easy win in 3:28½.

Davis was in very bad condition and was carried to his dressing room where his handlers worked frantically over him.

Steve Casey, world's champ coached his brothers to wins when Tom pinned Pat Reilly of Texas in 6:16½ and Jim flattened the powerful Sheik of Arabia in 11:47½ with an inside crotch, body life and slam followed by a top body press.

Emil Dusek, eldest of the wild clan of Duseks, succeeded in putting away Pat Kelley of Tennessee in 17:29. Robert "Rebel" Russell forced Everett Kibbons of Oklahoma to surrender in 12:28 with a leg lock.

Joe Maynard of N. Y. battled to a 15-minute draw with Allan Nickerson, Hollywood, in the curtain raiser.

WINGS-HAWKS IN TIE

'A' for Effort Tugging in vain, Yvon Robert tries fruitlessly to rip the mask off "The Shadow," but the hooded gentleman resisted all efforts and then went on to beat the former champion.

Riggs U. S. Cup Hope--Budge

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (INS)—J. Donald Budge, who is preparing for his professional debut against Ellsworth Vines early in January, thinks the United States now has at least an even chance to keep the Davis Cup in 1939.

"I played with Bobby Riggs for two weeks before I came to New York," said Don, "and I was pleasantly surprised to find how much stronger his game is.

"Bobby is forcing more now, and I figure he is good for two singles victories. We ought to be able to pull out one more match in the other three, and in my opinion the United States has at least a 50-50 chance of keeping the cup."

Hinkle Leads 'Pro' Scorers

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (INS)—The Green Bay Packers, who packed away practically every offensive National Football League honor but the title, also wrapped up the individual scoring prize.

All League Fullback Clark Hinkle carried off the spoils with 58 points, and running some fine interference in the runner-up slot was Don Hutson, with a total of 57 markers.

In third place was the Philadelphia Eagles' wingman, Joe Carter, with 48 points, three ahead of the Giants' Handy Andy, Ward Cuff.

Hinkle touched every scoring boundary in manufacturing his winning total on seven touchdowns, as many conversions and three field goals.

The most impressive mark probably is Cuff's when it is considered the brilliant Giants back gained the fourth spot with a touchdown total of two. But, on 18 occasions Ward drew the head on conversions and fired truly, to lead the loop in that respect. The balance of his markers were made on five goals from the field. He tied for honors in that department with Ralph Kercheval, of the Dodgers.

Gus Broberg Leads Dartmouth to Win

DENVER, Dec. 23 (AP)—Dartmouth's Indians found the mile-high altitude a stimulus for the first victory of their cross-country basketball junket, a 56 to 42 triumph over Denver of the Mountain Big Seven Conference.

A husky sophomore, Gus Broberg, was the leading brave in the scalping party, whipping 25 points through the mesh before leaving the game in the final minutes. He boosted his free-throw total to 28 in 29 attempts in seven games this season.

Bernhard Girl Enters Title Play

Miss Helen Bernhard of New York will defend her national girls' indoor tennis championships at the Longwood Cricket Club indoor courts starting next Tuesday.

In addition, the brilliant 16-year-old invader will again team with Miss Dorothy Wightman of Brookline and attempt to keep the doubles crown won last year.

Entries for the national tournament, which is open to all players under 18 years of age, closed today with Mrs. George W. Wightman.

The tournament draw will be made on Monday, to allow for the delay of entries in the Christmas mail, and the play in the singles division is expected to begin at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning, Dec. 27, and continue until Saturday, Dec. 31.

Miss Bernhard will naturally be accorded top-seeding in the draw, with Miss "Sissy" Madden of Jamaica Plain, runner-up last year, seeded No. 2. Among the other outstanding local entries will be the Misses Katherine Hubbell, Dedham; Mercedes Madden, Jamaica Plain; Polly Kimball, Winchester; Shirlee White, Winchester, and Dorothy Bruno.

Among the out of state entries which have been received are the Misses Lillian Lopaus, New York; Betty Rosenquest, New York; Josephine Sanfilippo, New York; Judy Atterbury, New York, and 14-year-old Joan Wheeler, Providence.

Lambert Joins Downs Board

John T. Lambert, former associate publisher of the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser will be elected a director of the Eastern Racing Association.

Lambert has been in the newspaper business in Boston for 20 years, as writer, editor and publisher. He received his early training in Portsmouth, N. H., Manchester, N. H., and Worcester.

For 10 years he was a Washington correspondent, acting as managing editor of the Cosmopolitan News Service, editor of the Washington Herald and publisher of the Washington Times. He was president of the White House Correspondents' Association and is a member of the National Press Club.

Platt, a junior, hails from Yonkers, N. Y.

'I've Got to Go to Work'

Cup Chief Pate Wants to Quit

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—As though the loss of J. Donald Budge were not a sufficiently crushing blow to America's Davis Cup future, it now appears likely that Captain Walter Pate also will be missing next summer.

The little Wall Street lawyer who coached and counselled the boys to victory in the past two years has asked President Holcombe Ward of the U. S. L. T. A. to appoint another captain, for Pate needs to get back to his law practice.

"I'm simply worn out," he confessed today, "and so are my wife and my partner. I can't blame them much, either.

"I've been away from home and out of this office for about three months in each of the last four years.

"I've enjoyed every minute of it, but now I feel it's somebody else's turn."

It is not customary to attach much importance to a Davis Cup captain, possibly because the average captain doesn't do much except share in the plaudits for victory and hand out the official alibi in defeat.

CONFIDANT OF BOYS

But Pate has not been an average captain, and he deserves about as much credit for having returned the big tennis trophy to America as anybody else, including Budge.

When Pate took hold of Budge four years ago, the coast redhead was only a hope and a promise, with a forehand that any public parks champion would scorn.

It was Pate who persuaded him to change to his present "eastern" grip.

Pate made a close friend and confidant of his boys, especially of Budge and Gene Mako. When there was clamor for another doubles partner for Budge, Pate said nothing doing.

He always insisted that Mako was a greater tennis player than anyone thought, and Gene proved it last season.

PARTIES BANNED

"I guess one reason I want to quit is that I dread the task of putting together another Davis Cup doubles team," he said.

"After watching Budge and Mako gradually develop into the greatest pair in the world, I'm afraid I'll be expecting too much of their successors."

Pate was so conscientious about his captaincy that when he took the team to London for its victorious challenge two summers ago he wouldn't let Mrs. Pate go along.

When he got there he didn't explore Mayfair or make the customary round of luncheons and dinners.

He had the boys moved into an apartment out near Wimbledon, and they stayed there. They went to no parties. They rose early, practiced hard and appeared to enjoy themselves.

Pate didn't seem to mind much even when Budge and Mako, the world champion jitterbugs, played their pet phonograph for hours an end. He simply wanted the boys to be happy and in condition.

To be honest, it wasn't quite like that in two previous years that this reporter saw an American Davis Cup team come to London and eventually get knocked on its collective ear.

The boys managed to get around in those days, and there even was one captain who wanted to play on the doubles team himself.

All of which might indicate why Pate deserves an equal share of the credit and why his services really will be missed if he induces Ward to accept his resignation.

Vols 6 to 5 Choice Over Oklahoma

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 23 (AP)—The boys who "on to such things today rated Major Bob Neyland's volunteers of the University of Tennessee 6-to-5 favorites to win the Orange Bowl football game from Oklahoma University January 2.

Word from Tennessee that a dozen players were suffering from colds and that the team was low in endurance when training was resumed after two weeks of rest, failed to reduce the odds.

Injuries Force Bruins To Recall Harry Frost

Stealin' Dempsey's Stuff

PORTLAND, Me., Dec. 23 (AP)—An over enthusiastic ringside fan knocked wrestler Jim Spencer, 188, Boston, to the floor here, stealing the thunder from Jack Dempsey's strong-armed officiating of a matmen's battle royal.

The old Manassa Mauler also provided also provided a couple of knockdowns, but they were an anticlimax to the unexpected and unorthodox punch that floored Spencer, who had been tossed out of the ring by Mike Rogoski, 190, Poland, eventual winner of the bout.

Hollett May Go to Center

By BILL GRIMES

After he had been advised by Dr. Martin Crotty against using Herbie Schmidt for at least a week, Manager Art Ross wired Herb Mitchell of the Hershey Club to send Harry Frost to the Bruins.

With Bill Cowley and Herbie Schmidt on the hospital list, the Rossmen are short of centers. Cowley is at his home in Ottawa recuperating from a serious knee injury and Schmidt is nursing a three-stitch cut on the inside of his right ankle.

Since Cowley has been out of action, Cooney Weiland has been doing double duty. And now, that Schmidt is on the shelf, the Bruins have only two play makers available, Weiland and Gordie Pettinger. It is a physical impossibility for Weiland and Pettinger to center for all three lines, so Art Ross sent out an SOS.

Due to the fact that Harry Frost is a right winger—at least he is supposed to be, for he shoots from the starboard side, the fans are asking why Pat McCreavy was not recalled from Providence. Pat started at center ice for the Bruins this season, but Art Ross decided that the Ottawa boy needed more experience before he'd be ready for the big league.

HOLLETT MAY MOVE

Although the writer has heard no mention of the matter, it may be that Art Ross plans to use Bill "Flash" Hollett at center and that Harry Frost will be protection against a shortage of right wingers.

Charlie Sands hadn't fully recovered from the crash that laid him low in Madison Square Garden a couple weeks ago before Joe Jerwa heaved into the boards last Tuesday night.

After the accident in New York it was feared that Sands had suffered a fractured skull. He did have a slight concussion and was still woozy when he played against Les Canadiens two nights later.

HELMET SAVED SANDS

But for the fact that he was wearing a helmet there is no question but that Charlie Sands' number would have been up after the toss he took in the game with the Americans. His head hit the iron upright which supports the wire screen and he went out like a light. And he was in poor shape when he left the Garden to go home after the game.

"Flash" Hollett is one of the best rushers on the Bruin roster. He breaks as fast as any of the regular forwards, has an abundance of speed and power (when he properly applies the latter) and packs a fine shot. And, moreover, at times, he has been known to set up some clever scoring plays.
